The Green Issue

The Pine Cone wishes to offer congratulations to El Padre, Carmel High School student paper, which came out with a Christmas Green issue last week that sparked, but not with icicles. The page one cartoon by Bob Barry set the tone. Superintendent Stuart Mitchell was discovered as Santa Claus cracking the whip over a team of reindeer who had faces strongly resembling various male members of the faculty; other representatives of the teaching staff were riding in the sleigh, clambering over a Christmas tree, sweeping snow off the roof of a cottage, trying to emerge from the top of a chimney, tossing snowballs and otherwise disporting themselves.

Then there were letters to Santa Claus purporting to have come from the long suffering faculty, and others. And a Psalm frankly acknowledged as stolen:

"I have an English teacher
I shall not pass.

She maketh me to show my ignorance
Before the whole class. . . .
Need one go on?

Yes, it's amusing. And yet. . . .
The other night I put down my detective story long enough to glance over my daughter's shoulder to see what she was reading for Senior English. It was Harold, the Last of the Saxon Kings, and the memories that flooded over me were slightly tinged with nausea.

While you're counting your blessings this New Year's, add to all the wonderful things in your life the happy circumstance that you are no longer seventeen.

The Poor Fellers

Add also to your New Year's tally of blessings the fact that you are not a member of the city council or the planning commission. The planning commission achieved a great victory on Wednesday afternoon last week when they persuaded Fred Jordan to modify his plans for a new store building on Sixth street between San Carlos and Dolores so that it would have a two-foot setback for a flower planting. Next day all was dust and ashes! An agonized voice of one of the members of the commission came over the phone. "Do you know what he's doing? He's cutting down two pines and a redwood, and it isn't at all necessary. There's nothing we can do to stop it, but if we'd known yesterday—" If they had known "yesterday" the planning commission still wouldn't have had the power to stop the tree cutting. On the other hand, they have no power other than persuasion to make people set their buildings back for plantings, but as a commission, their persuasive powers are considerable. From here on they will have another question to ask when commercial building plans come before them.

"What trees are you planning to cut?" with the natural follow-up, "If you move your building over this way just a little, you could save this tree." And Bert Heron: "From a purely commercial point of view."

Philippine Independence Slightly Premature Says State Department Official, John Signer, On Visit Here

BY GLENN CLAIRMONTE

John Signer, an employee of the State Department in foreign service, who wears an officer's uniform not showing his rank, spent a few days last week in Carmel visiting friends, after having lived in the tropics for 22 years. His first impression of this country, upon his arrival in San Francisco a few weeks ago, was that we are the only nation in the world carrying on as though nothing is going to happen, as though everything will be all right. With the rest of the world in turmoil, marching toward catastrophe, Mr. Signer was astonished at the complacency here.

Mr. Signer left the Philippines late last summer, and he states independence for the Islands was slightly premature, since an attitude of dependence upon the United States still exists. However, the improvement in the general public's understanding of the democratic process during the last half century has done much to inspire respect for the governing policies of this country. Residents of Siam and Borneo are experiencing unrest as a result of the freedom of the Philippines, and they are now demanding an opportunity for self-government comparable to that established in the Islands. Naturally this new spirit is causing difficulty for the British, the French and the Dutch who have maintained colonies in the South Pacific.

"After a year and a half of freedom," said Mr. Signer, "the Filipinos are conducting clean elections. They have tremendous racial pride and look askance at the residents who have inherited some Spanish blood. These they call mestizos, and each group, minority as well as majority, considers itself superior."

Mr. Signer explained that the rebuilding of the cities in the Philippines is retarded because of the shortage of material, and most of the building is varang-varang, that is, by slapstick methods. The Island of Cebu contains a great cement plant which is furnishing material for much of the building.

"I have never seen people so hungry for education as the Filipinos are," Mr. Signer went on. "No matter how hard they work, whenever they have a pause they take to their books. The University of Santo Tomas was established in the middle of the sixteenth century, and courses have been given there continuously ever since, even during the last war, when Santo Tomas was the concentration camp where great suffering was endured."

Mr. Signer began his world travels from San Francisco, where his parents still reside, in 1920 when he took his first cruise with the Naval Reserve. He later spent two years in Africa with RCA, ten years in Pacific islands with NBC, and since the early stages of World War II he has been under orders from the State Department. He flew to Guadalajara in time for Christmas and will spend his accumulated furlough there before reporting to Washington for his next orders.

MORLEYS IN ACCIDENT

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas L. Morley lost control of their car along the highway south of Highlands Inn on December 23 shortly after noon, perhaps because of oil on the pavement, and the car skidded, turning over in the gutter. They were cut and bruised and considerably shocked, but highway patrolman was on hand to see them safely home. It has not yet been determined whether the car can be repaired.

Tom Morley is a member of the Golden Bough Players and had a part in Joan of Lorraine and other productions at the Playhouse.

Highlands Residents Signing Petition Against Auto Court

A petition against the construction of a grocery store and a motel in Carmel Highlands may be signed by property owners in the lobby of Highlands Inn, Friday and Saturday, December 26 and 27. The petition of protest against these two applications was drawn up by Carmel Highlands Association at a recent meeting. Those members—and all property owners—who could not attend, are urged by Association President Col. A. S. Balsam to add their names to the protest.

An open hearing before the Monterey County Planning Commission on the matter is to be held December 29 in Salinas; deadline for signing the protest is tomorrow.

Protest of the Highlands Advisory Zoning Board has already been submitted, and many individual letters expressing disapproval of any permits for re-zoning have been mailed to the County Commission.

Nativity Play At Mission Proves A Community Success

Last Sunday at 6 p.m. the Junipero Serra School presented an old English Nativity Play at the Mission, and every inch of the place was occupied by enthusiastic Carmelites who took this opportunity to witness a modern version of the traditional Christmas pageant which has outlived many centuries of world change.

Noel Sullivan as the narrator occupied the most impressive position, his voice and his mien lending solemnity. Franciscan monks in brown robes, peasants in colorful tatters, and angels with sculptured wings were represented by the numerous pupils. The principal roles were taken by Ruth Harrington as the Herald Angel; Diane Horne as the Blessed Virgin; Robert Updike as St. Joseph; Eugene McFarland as the Innkeeper; Jerome Cummings as St. Francis; John Billman, Sam Robison and Louis Jaramillo as the Three Kings.

New Mains In March Is Co. Promise

Pipes and materials necessary to bring the water volume and pressure up to the safety level in the residential district in Carmel will arrive the first part of March, G. M. Goldworthy, manager of the California Water and Telephone Company stated in a letter to City Clerk Peter Mawdsley this week.

At the November city council meeting, Fire Commissioner Donald Craig voiced his concern over the inadequate fire protection in the residential district as a result of low pressure and insufficient number of fire hydrants. The condition was revealed by the board of fire underwriters' fire flow tests made in July.

The council instructed City Clerk Peter Mawdsley to communicate with water company officials immediately, pointing out the seriousness of the situation and insisting that conditions be improved immediately.

Goldworthy's answer, dated December 22, says in part, "The materials necessary to make improvements in Carmel have been on order for a considerable length of time. We have recently contacted our source of supply and they have advised us that shipment of pipe of the size required to make these improvements will be shipped in February and we should receive it not later than the first of March."

"We will proceed immediately upon receipt of material to make these improvements and this will then give residential areas a fire flow as recommended by the Board of Fire Underwriters."

One council member commenting yesterday said, "That's fine. Now if everybody will postpone his fires until after March, we'll be all set."

Ten Preludes By Philip Anderson Presented Sunday

By EBEN WHITTLESEY

On Sunday afternoon a group of friends were entertained at the home of Mrs. Emma Evans in the former Lincoln Steffens house by an informal concert featuring the singing of Mr. John Farr, music director of the Carmel High School, and the playing of Mrs. Philip Anderson, the former Tatiana Srsen, a talented piano pupil of Mrs. Evans.

Mrs. Anderson, whose home before her marriage was in Monterey, played a group of ten preludes composed by her husband. Mr. Anderson, who was present, explained that the music was inspired by impressions of their recent trip, in which the young couple visited all of the forty-eight states. The compositions, distinctly

WHERE, INDEED?

"Where are Ernie Schweninger, Harrison and Fred Godwin?" asks Daisy Bostick in her Carmel Story on the feature page of this issue. It is a rhetorical question, of course. But the question that follows is direct and, we think, deserves an answer.

D. K. G. Takes In New Members

At a Christmas party in Mrs. Mary Greene's apartment at the Custom House, Alpha Lambda Chapter of Delta Kappa Gamma, women's education honor society, initiated as new members Mrs. Mary Pogge and Mrs. Sylvia Jordan of Carmel, Miss Eileen Breton of Monterey, and Miss Virginia Gilbert, Miss Gertrude Lowe, and Miss Gertrude Waterman of Salinas.

Led by Mrs. Greene, the group celebrated Christmas with authentic songs of Spanish California, listened to a charming Christmas story, and broke the colorful pinata to find tiny gifts and candy. Refreshments were appropriate, being crisp bunuelos and coffee, with Mexican candy.

Instead of exchanging gifts the members brought books for the Monterey nursery school.

Assisting Mrs. Greene as hostesses were Miss Aletha Worrall, Miss Vivian Kernohan, Mrs. Florence Josselyn, and Miss Harriet Baker. The following members were present: Miss Gertrude Rendtorff, Mrs. Ann Uzzell, Dr. Luella Hall, Miss Ruth Banchard, Mrs. Martha Ralph, Mrs. Frances Pollard, Mrs. Anne Fisher, Mrs. Elise Beaton, Mrs. Elmarie Dyke, Miss Sophie Harpe, Mrs. Frances Johnson, Mrs. Louise Grigsby, Mrs. Beatrice A. K. Jones, Mrs. Anne N. Petersen, Miss Gladys Stone, Mrs. Laura Tarver, Miss Grace Wiedemann, Miss Maurine Van Der Griend, and Miss Eleanore Ziel.

Party For Dr. and Mrs. Pierce

Dr. A. B. Pierce was honored with a birthday dinner and family party at La Ribera dining room Sunday afternoon, December 14. The table was beautifully decorated under the direction of Mr. Wu, manager of the hotel dining room, with flowers brought by Mrs. Pierce. A big cake gay with red and white frosting—Harvard University is alma mater to Dr. Pierce—bore eight candles. Thirteen sat down to dinner at one o'clock.

In addition to host and hostess were his daughter, Mrs. Graham Latta and her husband of Los Angeles; his sister, Mrs. Ruth George of San Francisco; sister-in-law, Mrs. Nesta Pierce of Lafayette; two nieces and their families: Mrs. Dick Westlake, Mr. Westlake, and their two children of Oakland, and Mrs. Idar Gogstad and two children of Lafayette.

Dr. Pierce retired some six years ago from the city engineering staff of Los Angeles, and Mrs. Pierce from the school department. At first they took a home in Carmel Valley, but war time gasoline shortages sent them to Carmel, where they make their home in the Mission Tract.

Christmas In Missouri

Commander John S. Chilwood, USN, Ret., of Monte Verde and Fifth, is spending Christmas with his mother in Missouri.

Mrs. Hasty Here

Mrs. Louise Hasty is in Carmel visiting her daughter, Hope for the holidays.

Pre-Christmas Trip

Dr. and Mrs. Van Meter are off for a trip to Stockton and way stations on pre Christmas business.

San Jose Bride

At two p. m. last Sunday, Ipa Marie Parkerson of San Jose was married to Howard W. Rank, engaged in insurance on the Peninsula.

Holiday In Los Angeles

Dr. and Mrs. Robert Aurner have driven to Los Angeles for the holidays and will return the first week in January.

Sivertsen's Punch Party

Mr. and Mrs. Ivar Sivertsen are entertaining with a punch party on New Year's Day. The festivities will be held at their home, Mabuhai, up at the hill end of Monte Verde.

Party For Bill Rushworth

Bill Rushworth came up from San Diego Tuesday to spend the holidays with his mother, Mrs. Robert Bell, who entertained in his honor at an eggnog party on Christmas Eve.

Mrs. Allen Home

Mrs. Catherine Allen returned from the hospital Monday, having recovered from injuries sustained in an automobile accident a few weeks ago.

Reception From 4 To Dawn

Colonel and Mrs. "Kippy" George W. Stuart are inviting their many friends and neighbors to a reception to be given at their home on Lazarro and Atherton on Sunday, December 28, as "Kippy" says, "from four 'till dawn."

The affair is in honor of the new neighbors of the Stuarts, Captain and Mrs. Archer Allan USN Ret., who are newcomers to Carmel.

Scouts Camp In Yosemite

Repeating last year's trip, a group of 12 local members of Boy Scout Troop 32, with Carl Bensberg as Scoutmaster, will camp out in Yosemite for five days from December 29 until January 2.

"Bill" Smith of Troop 96 will assist in the skiing, skating, hiking and camp fire program. Two autos and a house trailer will provide transportation and cooking facilities.

Boys chosen for this trip will be from those who have earned their merit badges in pathfinding. Everett Smith, former mayor of Carmel, is the counsellor for merit badges. These boys were awarded badges in pathfinding at the last meeting: Leslie Doolittle, Ronnie Doolittle, Lanny Doolittle, Bob Osborne and Gerry Robison. The merit badge for home repairs was also won by Bob Osborne and Gerry Robison.

Quiet And Peace

A general Pine Needle note is that everyone seems to be counting on a more quiet Christmas, a gathering together of families, and a centering of activities around the children. With hectic headlines hitting at us, it is felt here that there is nothing wicked about turning ostrich for a few days, locking the doors, and indulging in the peace that is to be found at least around our own hearthsides.

University Women Party

Christmas gaiety and friendliness marked the party of the American Association of University Women, Monterey Peninsula Branch, at the Women's Civic Club in Pacific Grove last week. Mrs. Ted Durein, chairman of the book section, had charge of this, the only purely social meeting of the winter. Group charades were acted representing titles of well-known books, and carols expressed the Christmas spirit. Children's books for the Child Care Center were brought by the members as their contribution to the nursery school.

In the absence of Mrs. Mary Greene, curator of the Custom House Museum, who was to tell of Yule observances, Mrs. Edward Wright told about the nursery school recently reopened in the new building in Monterey. Mrs. Wright is director and works under the California school system of which the nursery school is now a part, supervised by the Monterey school department. Standards set by the state education board are high, both as to surroundings, care, and instruction, with a staff of seven adults for thirty children in age from two to five years.

Refreshments were served by a committee headed by Mrs. L. H. Sortais. Others assisting in the evening's arrangements were Miss Frances Whitehead, Mrs. Harold Davis, Mrs. Betty Minnes, Mrs. Wesley Chase, Mrs. Val Clement, and Mrs. G. M. Beall.

Carols And Angels

A very happy Christmas party enjoyed by both parents and children took place at the Blue Jay Nursery School Monday morning. A huge Christmas tree was the center of attraction in the beautifully decorated room in which the guests were seated. The lights were lowered and a spot light centered on the manger, above which hung a picture of Mother and Child. To the soft strains of the violin and piano, the children, dressed as angels, came one by one to place their most treasured toy by the babe in the manger so that they too might share the Christmas spirit with children less fortunate.

There was violin music by Mrs. Sale, then Mrs. J. W. Stilwell read The Tiniest Angel, after which guests and children joined in singing Christmas Carols, and each little angel sang his favorite song. Then came the jingle of Santa's bells and Old St. Nick himself bounced into the room accompanied by shouts of glee from the children, for from his bag he distributed gifts and sweets. Mrs. Joy Tuthill then served punch and Christmas cookies and saw that everyone had popcorn to nibble on.

Those taking part in the celebration were: Allen Good, Sydney Leonard, Margaret Duncan, Teddy Shallcross, Carolyn Dreweine, Nancy Jo Zimmerman, Kenneth Fortune, Marilyn Swim, and Nickola Budd.

Guests who enjoyed the festivities and helped sing Christmas carols were: Mr. and Mrs. Paul Budd, Mrs. Natalie Branson, Mrs. Glenn Clairmonte, Mrs. Guy Curtis, Mrs. Max Dreweine, Mr. and Mrs. David Duncan, Lt. Col. and Mrs. James C. Fortune, Mrs. John H. Gratiot, Junia and Johnny, Mrs. Lee Harbick, Mrs. Ima Hart, Mrs. Donnan Jeffers, Mrs. Richard Osborne and Susan, Mrs. Ernst Sahlsten and Peter, Mrs. Marie B. Sale, Mr. and Mrs. Wyatt Shallcross, Mrs. J. W. Stilwell, Miss Alison Stilwell, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Swim, Dr. and Mrs. Norval F. Zimmerman, Lt. Comd. and Mrs. H. A. Leonard.

Homecoming

John and Peggy Short are coming down to visit John's mother, Marie Short, for New Year's.

Costume Fiesta Planned

Dorothy and Cole Weston are going to have a New Year's Eve party at Ed Weston's home in the Highlands. Everyone will be in costume and there will be a great deal of dancing. To join the festivities Brett Weston and his daughter, Erica, have come up from Santa Monica.

Wedding And Reception

At the Church of the Wayfarer, at 8:00 o'clock, December 19, Pauline N. Carlsen became the bride of Grayden A. Wilkins, in a formal wedding ceremony with Dr. K. Fillmore Grey officiating. Marilyn Patterson was the maid of honor, Ernest B. Wilkins was best man, and Lt. Comdr. C. H. Carlsen gave the bride away. Later there was a reception in La Ribera dining room for a party of 30 guests most of whom were from Berkeley. Mr. F. H. Wilkins and his son had come down from Lethbridge, Canada. The couple is honeymooning in Carmel.

Cocktail Club Dance

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Shepard, their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew J. Shepard, and their daughter, Mrs. Virginia Shepard Snow, are giving a cocktail dance at the Monterey Country Club Saturday night, December 27. The guest list is long and varied, for it includes the younger and older friends of all the Shepards. Andrew Shepard, who attends Stanford, and his wife, are visiting their parents for the holidays.

Hatlo Party

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Hatlo really have holiday spirit for they are having "open house" from Tuesday evening more or less on through New Year's Day. Mrs. Hatlo says this is their first Christmas in Carmel and they hope all their friends will stop by.

CARMEL CAGERS IN TWIN VICTORY OVER GONZALES

With both teams maintaining their hot pace in quest of the B division flags, the Carmel High School lightweight and varsity basketball teams took the measure of the Gonzales Spartans last Friday night on the Carmel court. The lightweights coasted to a 28 to 18 victory, while the varsity was hardpressed to score a 32-26 decision.

The next league game will see Pacific Grove providing the opposition for the Padres. Pacific Grove dropped a heart-breaker to King City last week, which leaves Carmel at the top of the varsity heap.

ADULT BASKETBALL

With all teams bolstered by vacationing college boys, a fast brand of basketball was dished out last Monday night at the high school pavilion. The Carmel Boys' Club outlasted the Pine Cone quintet to snare a well-earned 40-35 victory. Art Templeman, Wyoming University, swished through an even dozen markers to spark the Clubbers. Bill Garguilo, San Jose State, also found the range for a dozen to aid the Pine Cone cause.

Ricketts and Freeman finally ran into their match when the Frost Roofers took them apart to the tune of, 52 to 33.

BING TOURNAMENT

Next January 9, 10, and 11, the Monterey Peninsula will again be host to the Bing Crosby Invitational Pro-Amateur Golf Tournament. The best golfers in the country will vie for honors on the Pebble Beach, Cypress Point and Country Club links.

Carmel's sole pro entrant will again probably be Newt Bassler, former Monterey Peninsula champion and veteran fairway-splitter. Last year, teamed with F. Buck Hennecken of Pacific Grove, Newt tied for second place in a distinguished field including such names as Sam Snead, Jimmy Demaret, and Ben Hogan. Newt's consistently good game, plus his thorough knowledge of the courses to be played, makes him a good bet to be once again among the winners when the divots come to rest, the sand settles, and the scores are computed.

Navy Takes Over Local Field With Formal Ceremonies

Rear Admiral D. B. Beary, commandant of the 12th Naval District, last Saturday afternoon read to 300 officials the directive from the chief of naval operations, activating the Navy Auxiliary Air Station of the Monterey Peninsula. Captain John C. Alderman was appointed commanding officer and he pledged the Navy's co-operation with the civilian authorities during the next 35 years, in accordance with the agreement between the Navy and the Monterey Peninsula Airport District Board.

Following the reading of orders by Admiral Beary the National Anthem was played by the 14th Infantry Division Band of Fort Ord, and colors were raised over the field. Invocation was given by Rev. Howard Dow, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal Church in Pacific Grove, and benediction was offered by Father Leo J. Beacom of the San Carlos Parish of Monterey. Mayor Hugh Dormody welcomed the Navy to the Peninsula, and S. F. B. Morse spoke of the significance of the occasion in the history of this region.

The activation of the Naval Auxiliary Air Station follows the decision of the Navy to locate the Naval Post Graduate School at Monterey, and plans are now going forward to give flight training to aviators under a staff of 16 officers and 200 enlisted men, with about 50 planes available for instruction.

CAR OUT OF CONTROL

Mrs. Helen Watson Pierce of Dolores and Santa Lucia last Friday afternoon lost control of her car when she was parking in one of the street stalls between the post office and Sixth street, and it leapt across the sidewalk, knocking down the bulletin board and fence belonging to the Village Corner before she could get hold of the brake.

Pinned against the broken fence were Mrs. Marguerite D. Simpson of Valley View and Seventh, who sustained three broken ribs, and Mrs. Pauline Crawford of the Point, who was considerably bruised.

cial point of view it is to your advantage to save that tree. It will make your property more attractive to the passersby and draw customers for the tenants who rent your stores. I know from experience."

As for the city council, it is a long time since a Carmel city council has been so sorely beset as this one is in the conflict over the enforcement of the overnight guest ordinance. The councilmen do not want to put a hardship on anybody, and yet they can't enforce the rooming house ordinance without stepping hard on a number of toes. On the other hand, if they do not enforce the ordinance, they will be doing an injustice to all of us. It is again the case in which a governing body has to decide on the policy that will result in the greatest good to the greatest number, and then grimly stand by to endure the clamoring of those whose personal interests are sacrificed.

So this Christmas it was Peace on Earth for everybody in Carmel but the city council. And now one hesitates to mention "Happy New Year," considering 1948 will be an election year for three of them. Nor is it a good idea to go around saying in their hearing, "Ring out the Old! Ring in the New!"

in the contemporary idiom were well written, and showed a talent for composition which may well be expected to develop in significant manner. Certain of the preludes definitely suggested their subject matter, such as those depicting impressions of New York traffic. Perhaps the most effective number was woven around the notes suggested by a fog-horn at the lakefront in Duluth, formerly the home of the composer.

The musical structure of the preludes displayed a certain similarity throughout the various selections, showing that the composer was, during their creation, preoccupied with a limited type of expression, but within the scope of the work considerable originality of thematic development was discernible.

The pianist, who with her husband, is studying at the music school of San Jose State University, has a rather mature and well rounded technique.

Mr. Farr, who sang several Handel arias and recitatives as well as a modern spiritual, has a well trained baritone voice which is always pleasant to hear. His attention to technical accuracy in his singing is noteworthy, and he possesses a well-controlled pianissimo which is effectively used.

Mrs. Evans, who has resumed her private piano instruction in her very attractive studio, entertained her guests with light refreshments following the program.

DAMAGE SUIT

As a result of an intersection accident April 5 at Torres and Sixth, Ruth I. Moffett has filed charges against Dr. Chester Hare and his stepson, Richard L. Masten, who was driving a station wagon at the time it collided with a bicycle ridden by Ruth Ann Moffett. John N. Shephard, attorney for Mrs. Moffett, has made a complaint asking for $11,000 in damages.

Margaret came from Long Beach where she went to Lowell School. She has one sister in the fourth grade. She likes to read and enjoys sports.

Two girls from our class have recently left. Pat Gilmore has gone to Chico and Mary McClain to Redding. We were very sorry to see them go. —Alice Ferrante.

In class we set aside a period to read and talk about current events. One of the things we have discussed lately is the new telescope on Mt. Palomar.

The disc was about seventeen feet in diameter and weighing about fifteen tons. It was one hundred and sixty miles to Palomar. Fifteen policemen guarded the truck while it was taking the glass up to Mt. Palomar. They were going less than twenty miles per hour. At two minutes after eleven a.m. they reached Mt. Palomar, about six thousand feet above sea level.

In nineteen thirty six the glass was being made when it cracked, and then they started a new one.

After nineteen years' preparation the finishing touches go on, and scientists believe that they will be able to find out things about the universe never known before. —Terry Hammer.

Recently Sixth Grade elected its new officers for the second quarter. They are as follows:

President, Bonnie Vandervort; vice-president, Bobby Amler; secretary, Richard Whitesides; treasurer, Allen Knight; sports manager, Alice Ferrante.

The new officers held their first meeting on December 5. The retiring officers were given a big vote of appreciation.

Class meetings in our room are held once a week on Fridays. After the routine business is over, the president appoints monitors and game captains for the following week. The meeting is then turned over to the entertainment committee. —Bonnie Vandervort.

Have you ever seen a game of donkey baseball? If you have, you will agree with me that very interesting things happen in them.

The idea is much like baseball. The only thing is that after hitting the ball, the player must ride a donkey over the bases (usually they go over the wrong way).

In the game I saw, the funniest part was when a man hit the ball and started for first on his appointed donkey. Everybody was waiting for the donkey to start bucking but he didn't. He just trotted off to first base and then to second. But just before he got to third, his donkey decided to start bucking. The donkey caught his rider totally unprepared. The unfortunate player sailed over the donkey's head and landed with a thump on his so-called sitting (Continued on Page Seven)

Charles V. Winn Gives C. S. Lecture

Charles V. Winn, C. S. B., of Pasadena, California, gave a lecture on Christian Science Sunday entitled Christian Science: The Science of Unlimited Good.

He is a member of the Board of Lectureship of the Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Massachusetts. In his lecture he said:

"Many centuries ago the prophet Isaiah was meditating upon the things of God. In a moment of great exaltation he declared, 'Ho, every one that thirsteth, come ye to the waters.' Was this good and wise man expressing mere human emotion, or was he setting forth a divine fact? Christian Science declares and demonstrates that he was stating an eternal verity, even the ever-availability of the refreshing waters of Truth.

"Christian Science is the law of God, unlimited good. The understanding of this Science unseals the fountains of limitless good in accordance with the definition which Mary Baker Eddy gives of Christian Science in one of her writings entitled 'Rudimentary Divine Science.' There she defines Christian Science as 'the law of God, the law of good, interpreting and demonstrating the divine Principle and rule of universal harmony' (p. 1). This succinct and clear statement of what Christian Science is bases its entire philosophy, practice, and demonstration.

"Mrs. Eddy's definition of Christian Science is not a mere intellectual precept, but it is an eternal truth which has been unfailingly proved in the life of our Leader. Through this law she was healed of disease, raised from what appeared to be her deathbed, and restored to a life of service and usefulness which has blessed the whole world. She saw and proved that the law which Jesus used to heal the sick and raise the dead, to restore sight to the blind and hearing to the deaf, is just as operative, just as available, and just as potent to heal now as it was in his day and time."

Carmel Story . . .

EARLY CARMEL AT PLAY—PART III

BY DAISY BOSTICK

The Carmel Circus was the most ambitious entertainment attempted in the playdays of the early Carmelites. Perry Newberry, Marie Gordon and George Kegg, artist and publicity man, were the driving spirits that put it through to success.

As usual it opened with a mammoth street parade. Down Ocean Avenue went the Presidio Mounted Band, floats, bareback equestriennes, cowboys, local organizations, comedy characters, etc. The floats had been painted and decorated by Carmel artists. One held a group of caged lions whose roars and bleats certainly sounded like those of tortured humans when the lion-tamer, Alberta Langley, clad in the proverbial tights and strong make-up, laid on her whip to subdue the recalcitrant beasts. Marie Gordon made a stunning Joan of Arc—steel battle array, helmet and all. There were a group of elephants each one being represented by local citizens, one performing for the front legs and one for the back legs, a steam calliope which made so much noise that nearby pine trees shed their needles. Tally-hos from the Del Monte Military Academy, Roman chariots driven by soldiers from the Presidio. Tilly Polak guided an educated bear who kept his secret well that he was a two-footed man enclosed in a bear skin.

The grand marshals of the parade were "Doc" Kibbler, Ray C. De Yoe, John Jordan, Fred Bechdolt and our beloved Policeman Gus Englund.

A large tent covered the entire block now devoted to the City Park. Raised benches providing for the comfort of several thousand people lined the ring. Steve Glassell was the ringmaster. In high hat, swallow tail coat, white gloves, he carried out his duties in true circus tradition. There were acts, some of which would bring credit to a professional circus and many acts which made the audience hilarious. The Presidio band came in with the music in sharp staccato and the cavalry furnished some very good acts. Some of them drove Roman chariots around the ring and there were gymnasts and pyramid acts and educated horses, one of them jumping through a flaming bonfire. Lynn Hodges was billed as Tom Mix' only rival. There was the Dance of the Clowns directed by Christine Burton and the Ammerman Brothers did a juggling act.

Booths and sideshows adjoined the circus tent and overflowed to the middle of Ocean Avenue. Austin James conducted a sideshow of living statuary and there was an Annie Oakley rifle shooting act. Bobby Norton fought a three-round bout with a professional fighter, and if one may judge from the sweat pouring from him and his general state of exhaustion, but with a triumphant look peering from behind the wreckage, Bobby came out the victor.

On exhibit in various booths were the living skeleton, the bearded lady, the sword swallower, the contortionist, the tattooed man, a three-shell game, the wheel of fortune and the human spider.

All in all it was quite an exciting day.

Then came the evening. Many of the preparations for the Circus had been made in the Forest Theatre grounds. The Circus wagons had been luridly decorated, calliopes had rehearsed their joyous strains. But the giraffes had to be tethered elsewhere for they stooped to browse too eagerly on cherry blossoms which waited their turn to bloom in the Mikado to be given the night of the Circus. Its chorus of sixty and orchestra of twenty turned out just as advertised and another tidy sum was added to the dimes and dollars collected from the day's entertainment.

Much advance publicity was given to the outside world and people far and near responded. It was estimated that five thousand enthusiastic sight-seers attended the Circus.

One script sent out said:

"Yes, lions will be there, some of them in

AUTUMN WIND

*A bustle keyed to a new note, a deeper tone,
Just audible in the thing grass, a quickening
In the strummed chords of trees, a full diapason
Moves a quiescent wood to brisk awakening.*

*The patter of the muted tawny leaves, the dry
Rustle of seed-pods, scuttling in the keen, clean wind,
Like dog-pads, sound amen between a sob and sigh,
When autumn comes a wood is tamed and disciplined.*
—ALEX R. SCHMIDT.

FROM THE ANCIENT TREE ALPHABET

*Wild Appletree of Immortality,
Beloved of men three thousand years ago,
Upon Gadelian stony hills you grew.
Your roots sought out infrequent living wells
Beyond the pillars held by Hercules.
Your glistening blossoms in the early Spring
Along the shores that close the midlands sea,
From slate-grey thorns flung wreaths of scented cloud
More fragrant than cut flowers that deck the dead.*

*Our elder brothers in that younger world
Acclaimed you in their mystic alphabet.
The letter C, twice formed, shall mean, they said,
This appletree and—for initiates—
Bear doubled sense of immortality,
Of life that sinks in quiet dreamless peace
To gleam again—perchance on hidden hills.*

*O gnarled bent tree of sparse and bitter fruits,
Old Mother of our checkered rows to-day,
Your small pale blossoms, though but dimly seen
By crescent moon or withering desert sun,
Give braver hope of living yet to be
Than can be found in geometric fields
Designed by men whose gods are Here and Now.
Your symbol cheers us from the studied page,
Wild Appletree of Immortality!*
—MINNIE FAEGRE KNOX.

TURN ABOUT—FAIR PLAY

*It's my turn now
To lie on grassy slopes
Feeling fall sunshine on my eyelids
Listening to the wind
In the cat-tails and the cottonwoods.*

*It's my turn now
For painting thoughts
And playing out the deeds of progress
Without hurrying or avoiding death,
Neither hastening nor retarding
The turns of those who come after.*

*My turn shall pass—
But I shall not mind
When newer lives take over
And I become the wind in the cat-tails,
The breath of the cottonwoods.*

—DOROTHY JUNE NEWBURY.

CHAMELEON

*Gold for dawn but black for night
And blue is color for the day;
The sky's chameleon to light,
A spectrum for the sun to play.
To think that always, everywhere
Air has no color of its own!
No constant shade, though Giotto swear
And poet cling to rosy dawn,
No bluest, quintessential air
For rhetoric to anchor on.*

—J. S. MOODEY.

Have You Read . . . ?

BY MAURICE KORSHET, M. D.

(Mind In Action, by Eric Berne, M. D. Simon and Shuster.)

The subtitle of this book "Being A Layman's Guide to Psychoanalysis" is not only apt but accurate. Most medical books written for the "intelligent layman" are ponderous and tiresome. With scientific authenticity but without being profound, didactic or controversial, Dr. Berne presents a fascinating and readable account of psychoanalysis.

A dyed-in-the-wool Freudian, the author dismisses the psychanalytical black sheep such as Jung, Adler, Stekel and Horney with a few scant sentences. The book bristles with Freudian shibboleths of the Id, Ego, Superego, libido, mortido, transference and sublimation which are substantiated with convincing case-histories.

Besides inventing a new and picturesque vocabulary, all schools of psychoanalysis have contributed valuable diagnostic techniques to psychiatry. As a curative agent, psychoanalysis is not a panacea. While it has cured many cases of neurosis, it has failed in others. There is no such thing as a cure-all in medicine.

Defects in human relationship cause neurosis. By interpreting the individual in his relationship to the world, to people and to himself, psychoanalysis fulfills its ultimate aim. It is definitely a relationship therapy.

One of the chief objections to psychoanalysis is the time and expense involved. Dr. Berne states categorically that no patient can be cured unless he visits the psychoanalyst three to five times a week for at least a year. Freud himself admitted that "psychoanalysis is not for the poor." That is why modern psychotherapists are searching for shortcuts to mental health.

Among such short-cuts are hypnosis and hypnoanalysis. The author mentions hypnotism casually and ignores hypnoanalysis entirely. However, many leading psychiatrists are becoming actively interested in hypnosis, autohypnosis and hypnoanalysis.

Psychiatry, based largely on concepts, is not an exact science. Primarily, it is an art of healing, an art activated by character appraisal and intuition or "hunches." The author recognizes this point in his discussion of fortune telling and palmistry.

In explaining the working of intuition, Dr. Berne makes this astounding admission: "Intuition is subconscious knowledge without words, based on subconscious observations without words, and under right circumstances it is more reliable and accurate than conscious knowledge based on conscious observation." Can it be that the psychoanalyst's elaborate interpretation of dreams and his zealous delvings into the unconscious are motivated by "hunches?"

Behavior aberrations in adults are attributed to "the unfinished business of childhood" by Dr. Berne or as Dr. Flanders Dunbar calls them "delayed-action mines of childhood." The effect of sexual inhibitions and conflicts upon the occurrence of neurosis cannot be underestimated but neither should we overestimate the influence of sex as do so many psychoanalysts. There are many neurotic and psychotic behaviors that, by the wildest flights of psychoanalytical imagination, cannot be traced to sex.

Aside from all this, as a popularization of psychoanalysis, Dr. Berne's book is one of the best in its field and should be an excellent addition to the library of either layman or physician.

Have you read a new book that you feel is so good that you want your friends and neighbors to share with you the pleasure or information you derived from it? Or an old book that is dear to you . . . or a group of fine books on a special subject? Write 600 words about it for this column.

Sunset School Nativity Play Lovelier Than Ever

Sunset School made its Christmas contribution to the community last week when the annual Christmas play was presented in the Auditorium. When the ceiling lights were extinguished, the red footlights flooded the curtain and the evergreen decorations with a good Christmas red. Immediately angel voices were heard, as slowly down both aisles white-robed students marched, their faces lighted by flashlight candles, as they sang O Come Let Us Adore Him. They arranged themselves at one side of the stage while other students in white robes banked at the opposite side. From time to time these two groups supplied the music while the tableaux were revealed on the stage.

When the curtains parted there was a murmur of appreciation from the audience for the woods setting in which little elves romped, hiding behind trees in time to escape detection from modern children who rested there after a tennis match. Among these the discussion of how much should be sent to the needy children of Europe led to the suggestion by little-girl angels that decision should be made only after the witnessing of the play which would encourage love and true charity.

The six scenes portraying the first Christmas Eve were enacted with dignity, in colorful settings showing Joseph and Mary finding no lodging and taking refuge in the stable, shepherds following the star, the three kings bringing gifts, angels hovering above the creche. The costumes were appropriate and attractive.

The traditional carols by the choral groups gave adequate explanation of each scene, and the whole performance was effected smoothly and with credit to both students and faculty. Mrs. Beatrice Rea was the general director, assisted by Peter Newel, student director, while Arthur Holman was responsible for the music, and Ernest Calley engineered the making of the sets.

Carmel Story . . .

the process of being subdued by persuasive lion tamers. There will be clown antics, cleverer, more subtle than any ordinary Circus funniness—for isn't it CARMEL? Novelists have laid aside their writing to deflect all of their originality toward perfecting their performances on the sawdust ring. Success is a sure thing. Sculptors are combing the beach for snakes—resigned to carve snaky kelp into serpents if real snakes are a-wary. Poets are zestfully painting rotund ferocious lions and graceful head-free squinting giraffes on circus wagons. There will be Russian dancers—real ones—for one at least is a live member of the Kosloff Ballet. There will be a Pony Ballet too, adapted—and only slightly expurgated—from a recent Moulin Rouge turn. All kinds of things you'd never see at any circus in the world—such as painters caged ruthlessly, in spite of all that nonsense about temperament, with jungle beasts."

Well, when the tumult and the shouting died the affair was voted a great success, both artistically and financially.

Are the good old days when Carmel played, laughed, performed, gone forever? Where are Ernie Schweninger, Harrison and Fred Godwin who were our leading spirits in our old silly hilarious antics? Why not another get-together?

Why let it be a passing fancy?

EVERY day you see them, swinging smoothly by.

And every time you see them, like as not, the same thing happens.

You fancy yourself traveling in style that's unmistakable anywhere, and eye-catching wherever you go.

You picture the fun you could have behind this big bonnetful of Fireball power, eager for your treadle-foot's nudge, as avid as you are for high adventure.

You picture the glorious comfort there must be in soft, coil springs all around and a ride as level as an honest man's look.

You picture the peace of mind that could be yours in a carriage so big, so sure, so steady—a car whose very wheel-rims lend security and control as well as softness to your going.

Well sir!

Why let such pleasant fancies

be passing fancies only?

Why know Buick only from the sidewalk, when every day that passes, could be bringing you nearer to owning one?

First step is simply to make up your mind you're going to own one of these style stars. Next is to see your nearest Buick dealer.

He'll take your order, and get yours to you soon as he can.

Bride Wears Green

Mr. and Mrs. John Geisen and Carol Howard drove to Reno Sunday morning to attend the Tuesday afternoon (December 16) wedding of Jessie Jean Nesbitt to Albert T. Henley. The bride chose green wool jersey for the ceremony, with yellow and white flowers in her hair, and black and gold accessories. Howard Hall, half brother of the groom, was best man. There was a reception afterwards given by Mrs. John Casserly from Burlingame, who used her suite at the Riverside Hotel for the champagne affair. Mr. and Mrs. Geisen, who enjoyed the wedding and had a lot of Reno-fun besides, drove back with Mrs. Howard Wednesday night.

Studio Party

In their Highlands studio, once lived in by Varnum Poor, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Wright entertained Saturday night with a Tom and Jerry party for Mrs. Frances Ney who was in Carmel week-ending. A lane of candles led from the highway to the moonwashed cliff, and the studio interior was gay with glowing fire, gleaming candles and color touches by Jean Varda. Water was boiled for the Tom and Jerries in an enormous pot over the fire, and a buffet was served at midnight. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. Jean Varda, Pat Wall, Rosalind Sharpe, John Ney, Barker Devon, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Harris, Michael Franke, Webster Street, Lois Dunham, Marian Upton, and of course, Mrs. Ney, dressed in black, with some fabulous headgear of gold sequins and looped gold earrings.

Another Gift Shop

Jess W. Black, who has been active at the Poke About Nook in Carmel for the past two years, has now opened another gift shop in San Jose.

Carmel Home For June

June Degnan, who recently bought Marie Elizaldi's house on San Juan, is spending the Christmas holidays in San Francisco. June has been enjoying sun and view at the Highlands.

Art And Christmas

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Randolph are leaving by train Wednesday morning for San Francisco, where they plan to enjoy holiday parties with their friends in the city, and also to take in the art galleries. Lee is particularly anxious to visit the Modern American Art show at the Legion of Honor, where a range of contemporary art, from abstractionists to the more conservative, is being shown. The Randolphs plan to be back in Carmel for New Year festivities.

Greetings From East

Toni Ricketts sends holiday greetings from New York to all of her friends on the coast, as do Katie Martin Ruster and Libby Cass Gibbon, now living in Philadelphia.

The Wells' Open House

Col. and Mrs. Joseph L. Wells and their son, Harvey Holden, who is down from Berkeley for the holidays, are planning an informal open house to see their friends Christmas Eve and Christmas day. They will serve the traditional Tom and Jerries on Christmas Eve and egg-nogs for Christmas day.

Open House At Rancho Del Monte

At Rancho Del Monte, across from Rancho Los Laureles, Mr. and Mrs. Milton A. Marquard, assisted by Mrs. Marquard's brother, Paul Porter, and Mrs. Porter, an open house was enjoyed by a number of the friends of Mrs. Marquard (Peggy Porter Marquard) on Saturday evening, December 20. Another open house is planned for the following week when the remaining groups will be entertained.

Party For Returned Students

Mr. and Mrs. Reginald Inwood of Carmel Highlands gave a Christmas homecoming party Sunday at 7:30 p. m., to welcome members of the All Saints' Episcopal parish who are returning from school and college.

The young people for whom the party was given: Patricia Bacon, Joan Carr, Robert Jensen, Paul MacDonald, James Snaveley, Joseph Goodrick, Susan Dekker, Joan Dekker, Richard Templeman, Arthur Templeman, Hans Lehmann, and Klaus Lehmann.

Other guests are Barbara Berg, Margot Boice, Nancy Brown, Cynthia Carr, Charles Casey, Michael Frisbie, Edward Goodrick, Daniel Holmes, Elizabeth Klein, Jennifer Lloyd, Legare McNeill, Susanne Smith, Carol Templeman, Ann Thoeni, Mavis Jones, Jack Galloway, Deborah Geering, and Jean Halett.

Ladies in charge of arrangements were Mrs. F. G. Boice, Mrs. James P. McNeill, Mrs. Walter Lehmann.

Party For Bert Taylor

Georgie Taylor gave a party Saturday night for her husband Bert Taylor's birthday. The party was at Toby Street's house on Dolores, where Toby's collages on the walls and bright color scheme make anyone feel gay, without the wine punch that was served and the buffet supper around midnight. Among those who came to wish Bert a happy birthday and a long life were Mr. and Mrs. Sappero, Herb Vial, Andre Henney, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Vial, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Conlan, Skippy Hollins, Sam Colburn, Mrs. Kay Shallcross, Mr. and Mrs. Upton, Mr. and Mrs. George Willox, Lois Dunham, and many others.

Varda Barn Opened

The beautiful and fabled barn of Jeah Varda in Monterey was once again lit with color and gay with the music of the rhumba when from Sunday afternoon to dawn hours, Virginia Varda tossed an open house affair to all her friends. Everyone was there; from the tower rooms, through the huge mirrored living room down through the lower studios, the stairs and rooms were thronged with guests, bustling with chatter, skirt rustling and music. The women wore long, colored skirts, and a few were even waving fans in deference to the new femininity. On the long wooden table, flanked by great candles, a brazier filled with coals was placed, which kept warm copper pots of steaming wine; and a supper served downstairs. The guest list, including names from Big Sur, from San Francisco, Berkeley, the Highlands, was endless.

Swing into the VILLAGE CORNER and revive that faltering spirit with a lush light snack in the way of a salad, a sandwich, or soup served with buttered toast. If it's more support you need, you will find a hot special, changed every day, of homemade beef stew, turkey au gratin casserole, baked beans and brown bread; or you might hit a day of chili con carne, or hot roast beef and mashed potatoes. Those out of this world cookies are made by Mrs. Payne's mother, who came to Carmel for a leisurely visit and has found that Carmel just won't let her stop making cookies.

That charming couple, Manuel and Felicitas Valenzuela, continue to serve delicious Mexican food in their HUCKLEBERRY HILL RESTAURANT. If you are an aficionado of enchiladas, of tacos, you will be delighted with their authoritative cooking; and if you are looking for atmosphere, and think the wharf has supplied it long enough, try HUCKLEBERRY HILL. With the help of other artist friends, Manuel has painted and decorated the restaurant himself, so you will be surrounded with color and gaiety as you feast on good Mexican food.

A table of literary hors d'oeuvres will be found at the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS where all used and hurt books including children's books will be gathered together and each sold for .50. A lot of you will want to rush down with that Christmas money and spend it on some book you've been wanting which will be waiting for you among the regular supply at the BOOKSELLERS. And for this particular morning, a little pamphlet called "The Morning After" will be most suitable. It contains recipes that should be especially interesting to celebrants during the holiday season.

When you order a chiliburger at RINGS you get the works. According to the menu the "piece de resistance" contains hamburger, a bun, chili, goose pimples, and hot flashes, and best wishes from the management. RINGS is katty corner from the First Theatre at Scott and Pacific, Monterey.

Mr. Carter of the FLOR DE MONTEREY, led me into the inner sanctum of the back room where I watched with fascinated eyes the unwrapping of packages of flowers for corsages: roses, orchids, carnations, gardenias, out they came in wondrous heaps of color and scent. More boxes, more cotton padding, more delicate damp petals, and then a box of the most beautiful camellias I have ever seen, shell pink in color and deep rose, with great double heart like peonies. Wear tiaras of flowers in your hair, and mass your tables and mantelpiece with fresh cut blooms from the FLOR DE MONTEREY.

You will not only want custom made dresses for your little girl, but her entire wardrobe. Mrs. Cardinelli of the MONTEREY KIDDIE SHOP will make lingerie on order, coats, and wonderful little hat and purse sets. One of these is done in pale blue felt, and miniature WAAC overseas caps. For special events like christenings, birthdays, parties, you will also want specially made clothes. Let your children get the idea early that there is no chic like the chic of clothes especially fashioned for you as an individual, and take them, for wardrobe completion, to the MONTEREY KIDDIE SHOP.

The Patio Room at the CASA MUNRAS is going all out for a big New Year's Eve Party. With a blazing fire, the hot and happy music of Danny Danziger, and a superb meal of steak or prime ribs or chicken, you will have the New Year's Eve of your life. And there will be all the accompanying hoopla of tin whistles, balloons, confetti, and trayloads of canapes around midnight. The party is all reservation, starts at 8:00, so be sure to phone the CASA MUNRAS in time. From 5:30 to 8:00, dinner will be served in the Porch Dining Room.

Mr. and Mrs. Edwards of BY THE SEA SHOP wish to thank Carmel for being so nice to a couple of newcomers. They had heard something of the rumor that it takes 30 years before you can be tagged with that sublime reward "Carmelite", and were a trifle uneasy. But they say everyone is pleasant, business has been excellent, and they find it all very gratifying and want to thank everyone who has helped them and their BY THE SEA SHOP feel at home and to wish all Carmel A Happy New Year.

All you pottery makers, weavers, painters, and general craftsmen of the peninsula: BALZER'S CARMEL DEPARTMENT STORE has a line of smocks you'll want to know about. Some are in paisley rayon silk, some have smocking, there are printed satteens, solid colors in broadcloth, and a truly quaint one in chintz with a yoke and buttons down the back. Have a smock supply and when your friends stop by for tea, you can whip into a clean one and be a more lieurely hostess.

Mr. Fellhauer of the LEATHER SHOP wishes to thank all you good people of Carmel and Monterey for the support you have given his recently opened shop, and assures you that with his enlarged facilities and his increased stock of merchandise, in the leather line as well as leather craft supplies, and purse and luggage repair, he will be able to serve you even better this coming year. Stop in at that interesting pink adobe shop on Alvarado and let your leather luxuries and necessities be taken care of.

A functional jewel in the form of a shining white Roper stove is being sold at the CARMEL PLUMBING AND APPLIANCES. These stoves have all kinds of wonderful features like double ovens, double broilers, clock controls and some have staggered tops burners which mean more ease, more delicacy when cooking. A great specialty of the CARMEL PLUMBING AND APPLIANCES is remodeling and redesigning kitchens. And I saw in photography the visible proof of what can happen to a dingy kitchen when done over with every kind of shining modern equipment. It makes that old story about a kitchen being a palace look like true.

You will have seen the Rose Barrack dress of white faille top and ankle length broadcloth in the window of the CINDERELLA SHOP, and behind this window are many more long lovely gowns for the holidays, ranging from the budget price of below thirty dollars to up around one hundred dollars for sky limit purses. There are beautiful blacks, with full taffeta skirts, one with a low lace collar encrusted with pearls and rhinestones, others of black net, or stiff net over pink satin, a gathered blue moire, an enchanting orange taffeta. Stiff crinoline petticoats give full bustle effect, and more spread and rustle of elegance, to go with these New Year's Eve costumes. The CINDERELLA SHOP will gown you handsomely to farewell the old and welcome in the New Year.

Tread your way upstairs to the STOCKING SHOP in the Golden Bough Court across from the Pine Inn, and view the arrival of new leg gear: a shipment of all silk 2 thread stockings in 3 fashionable dark dark shades: black beauty, coal black, colt black, and no faking, bronze skin, deep rich brown, and mistique, which is deep taupe, a good neutral shade if you're hitting at something good for black and brown.

Hood yourself in a sweeping black gabardine rain coat from GAIL COUPES shop on San Carlos. These gabardine coats, in equally smart Toast or Gray, are rain-wise, and sun-wise too, for their full flare and giant hoods are fashionable fare for any weather.

In the spotlight is the HIGHLANDS INN where things continue merry with four college boys, known as the Sentimental Serenaders, to give you melody through dinner, and smooth music for your dancing right through the holidays. As for food the chef up there has been around places like the Crillon in Paris, the Cypress Point Club at you know where, the Plaza in New York, so think that over when you want a really superb meal. And sooner or later you are going to meet that pleasant gentleman, Mr. Dudley Yard, who is managing the HIGHLANDS INN with new enthusiastic spirit, and helping that beautiful place express every bit of charm it's got.

Round right from Dolores to Ocean and you walk — almost — straight into CARLETON'S GROCERY store, a good place to find yourself if you're in need of ultra fruit and vegetables, of quality brand canned goods, and a wide supply of wines and other liquid trimmings if your cabinet needs re-stocking. I like the service you get at CARLETON'S too, it's quick, efficient, to the point and to your taste.

George Beck, at the MONTEREY JEWELERS on Alvarado sends his hellos and greetings to everybody. He says things went over big during the shopping season and in return for all your visits he is lowering prices for those jewelled gifts you still want to purchase.

Last week we told you about Mr. Thomas of the EL PASEO BEAUTY STUDIO, and this time we would like to feature Miss Low, Miss Low, who is experienced from New York Beauty Salons, specializes in hair styling, marceling, and gives a custom cold wave, so that all of your beauty hair-care is managed by the wise hands of experts.

One of those popular jam sessions was held at the San Carlos Sunday, with JAKE STOCK'S orchestra going full blast. Unfortunately, not many people knew about the session, and that delightful slightly hysterical atmosphere which usually attends the afternoon, with the Monterey jitterbugs going wild, was missing. But anyway a few tables were crowded with ardent fans, and we hope those sessions will be regular Sunday affairs. As a matter of fact, Jake will be with us next Sunday, so all you swing fans get ready for a rousing afternoon.

The Time Has Come . .

By KIPPY STUART

Why don't you become a fuchsia expert? Oh yes you can. All you need is a tin can and a handful of sand. After this simple statement I shall now begin to complicate things. Sand is variable. Gertrude Stein would explain it thus: "Sand is not sand... is not sand... is not sand..." and she would be going in the right direction. The sand on your lot is out; beach sand is out. In order successfully to start young plants you must have the very coarse, gritty stuff. Ask at any supply store for Plasterer's sand, No. 3 or No. 4; punch holes in the bottoms of tin cans and you are by way of becoming a fuchsia expert.

This is a good time to start fuchsias. Last winter I started dozens and not wanting to clutter up my potting shed I sank tin cans into the earth all over the garden. Last spring and summer I was stumbling over fuchsias that I had forgotten all about. These fuchsias that I slipped this time last year are now three and four feet high and going strong. The advantage of sinking pots and cans into the earth obviates the necessity of continued watering.

You will have no trouble getting a variety of slips. All gardeners are famous for their generosity and willingness to help the neophyte. Suppose you are a stranger and don't know any gardeners? I have one friend who started from scratch: Up the street from her house was a lush garden abounding in pelargoniums and fuchsias that had a way of sticking through the fence. Well, they stuck through the fence, didn't they?

Later in the year my friend met up with this experienced gardener and over a cup of tea the gardener graciously offered slips from her garden. My friend replied, "Oh, thank you, I already have all of your varieties. My whole garden came from yours." The gardener lady was delighted. I tell you, gardeners are something special!

When taking slips from a fuchsia, take them from different parts of the plant. Sometimes the woody slips will grow best; sometimes the new tips will do the trick. Now you can just stick these slips into the damp sand and go away. Sometimes this works, but you are going to be a fuchsia expert, so get a small jar of Rootone. This Rootone is a hormone that gives slips a good start and you will have stronger and more vital plants. Stick the cut end of the slip into the powdered hormone, then put it in the damp sand.

My patio is something to see with fuchsias showering down from the roof and second story. The place is a galaxy of beauty. Now, the plants are pruned to the bone; not a leaf or flower visible. This drastic pruning is not necessary, but I refuse to allow California to cheat me out of my seasons. I want to see spring arrive in my patio. (I've also got a lot of fuchsias that stick through the fence, if you are interested.)

Why doesn't someone talk back at me? Many of you are more experienced gardeners than I am. Why don't you tell me off? Let's start "feudin' and fussin'" and have a good time!

Rancho Carmelo, California's first dude ranch, located in Carmel Valley and owned by the K. D. Mathiots, has been having widespread publicity, since 200 newspapers throughout the country are this week carrying George Cain's photograph of Mrs. Mathiot and Yellow Chief, her prize-winning Palomino, in a flour ad that divulges Mrs. Mathiot's recipe for Silver Fruit Pudding.

Travelogue

Mrs. W. P. Colbin has just returned to Carmel with her daughter Maggie, Mrs. William F. Hennessy, whom she brought back with her from Dubuque, Iowa. Mrs. Colbin started traveling last spring, when she went to San Diego to visit one of her daughters, then to Iowa to visit Maggie and her daughter Shannon, thence to visit other children in New York, then a wonderful tour of Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire to see more of her family. Mrs. Colbin then progressed to Asheville, North Carolina, came back over the sky line highway to Williamsburg, Virginia, then some more New York, picked up her daughter in Iowa, visited Kansas City, and Santa Fe, and back at long last to Carmel. Maggie is staying in Carmel, and Mr. Hennessy is planning to drive out in the spring.

Eggnogs For Christmas

Shelagh Scoville, home for the holidays from Dominican College in San Rafael, and her brother, Jefferson, who attends Santa Clara, gave a Christmas Day egg nog party for their friend, Miss June Renton, who arrived from Honolulu for a visit. The party started around 11 a. m., and continued to late afternoon. Among the guests were: Mimi Townsend, Peter Hatley, Barbara Betts, Johnny Todd, and Kathleen Moulder. Jim Scoville, the oldest brother, and his wife, are visiting from Topeka, Kansas.

Christmas Luncheon

Mrs. Ralph Weston entertained a group of young people with a Christmas luncheon Saturday noon. Games and music added to the pleasure of the afternoon.

Parties At La Playa

Monday night, December 21, La Playa Hotel gave its annual Christmas party for the employees and their children. Egg nogs were served; there was food and dancing, and a Santa Claus who handed out gifts to the guests and their children. Then on Christmas eve there was an egg nog party in the lobby for all the hotel guests with the compliments of the management; and on New Year's Eve the guests will be presented with another party; there will be an orchestra for dancing and food will be served at midnight.

Entertain For Friends

Col. and Mrs. George W. Stuart are entertaining December 28 with a reception at their home to introduce their friends to Captain and Mrs. Archer Allen. The reception will begin at 4:00 in the afternoon.

To City With "Goody"

Mrs. M. J. Peterson and her little dog, Goody, spent Christmas in Berkeley with relatives.

Partellos Entertain

Colonel and Mrs. J. K. Partello are having a small party for a close group of friends the afternoon of New Year's Eve, starting at 4:00 o'clock.

Paul Shattuck Marries

Mr. Paul Shattuck, whose niece was married a week ago, left for Bakersfield this Saturday, for his wedding Sunday to Miss Virginia Getchell.

Down From Berkeley

Mrs. George C. Robb and Mrs. E. E. Miller of the Claremont Hotel, Berkeley, are in Carmel for the holidays, staying at La Ribera Hotel and hoping to receive calls from their many Carmel friends.

Party At Garden Nook

Mr. and Mrs. Ashley Stetson of Garden Nook on Carmelo gave an eggnog party Christmas Day, serving homemade Christmas cookies and macaroons and caramelized popcorn popped by themselves. It was the first Christmas for their second child, Ashley, Jr., known as Lee.

Tor House Reunion

There will be a real spirit of Christmas and family reunion at the Robinson Jeffers, for the whole family is reunited under Tor House roof. Garth and Charlotte Jeffers just got back from Germany three weeks ago, and Donnan, Lee and their baby, Lindsay, also dwell at Tor House.

Traditional Skillman Party

Following a family custom of many years' standing, Mr. and Mrs. Verne Skillman of Hatton Fields Mesa entertained at their annual Christmas party, Sunday night, December 21, with soft sea color decorations of silver, and blue and Christmas greens. Co-hostesses were Mrs. Skillman's sisters, Mrs. Frances Smithers and Mrs. Katherine Grenfell.

Red And White

Mr. and Mrs. John E. Abernethy have held open house more or less all through the month of December, and have decorated their home charmingly and simply in red and white. A white Christmas tree was ornamented entirely with red trimmings, the modernistic white pillars near the fireplace had tiny trees placed on top of them and tied with red bows, and the only other note of color permitted was the green in a few wreaths which were hung for more Christmas effect.

School Christmas Party

Probably one of the nicest programs in Forest Hill School's long list of entertainments was staged Friday morning, December 19. Sixty to seventy parents and friends enthusiastically enjoyed the Yuletide songs and recitations of the children. After a few words of greeting by Miss Anne G. Douglass, Director of the School, the children paraded in single file to their places on the stage at one end of the large assembly room. First came the little tots of the nursery division, followed by those of the kindergarten, and last the older children of the primary grades. All were dressed in costumes of gay colors and each child carried a little lantern. The School was beautifully decorated with green boughs and wreaths and colorful ribbons. Near the stage stood a huge Christmas tree, trimmed by the children with ornaments they themselves had made.

The affair climaxed the fall term of the School. Classes open again Monday, January 5, after the Christmas vacation.

Teachers Take Vacations

Faculty and Staff of the Sunset School are taking their holiday vacations in various ways. Those who are leaving the peninsula for a few weeks are: Neill Rush, who is visiting in San Diego and South Pasadena, where his parents live, also Newport Beach and Palm Springs; Beatrice Rea, who is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mastrofino in Madera; Mr. and Mrs. Orville C. Rogers, who are motoring to Los Angeles to be the guests of the Charles Luleys of Santa Monica and to take in the Rose Bowl Game if their tickets arrive; James Blee who goes to San Diego to visit his parents; Harriett A. Norman, visiting in La Jolla; Ann B. Uzzell, going to Lovelock, where her daughter and son-in-law have their home, and Miss Eleanor Crouch, who is going to stay with her parents in Chico.

Those who will gather around local firesides are: Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Nye, who will have Christmas guests to stay with them in Carmel; Marcia F. DeVoe whose home is in Monterey; Arthur J. Holman who is going to use his vacation taking color pictures in Carmel and Santa Cruz; Arthur C. Hull who will vacation in Carmel but spend Christmas Day in San Francisco with his parents; and Mrs. Dorothy Russel Skelley, secretary of the Sunset School, who will spend her holidays here with her mother, Mrs. Mildred L. Russel, who has come up from Los Angeles to visit her.

Party For One Year Old

Chucky Benson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Benson, and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. C. U. Fonteneau of Carmel, and Mrs. A. L. Benson of Missouri celebrated his first birthday December 17, at the home of his parents. A ten foot Christmas fir tree, beautifully decorated, greeted the guests as they entered the living room, and red and green color scheme was used throughout the house. After the refreshments had been served, Ray Benson, brought out another surprise, a huge birthday cake decorated with wreaths, poinsettias and one lighted candle. The guests list included Mr. Noel Sullivan, Mr. C. Wentworth, Mr. and Mrs. Jim Connelly, Mrs. Marigold Gullick, "Pop" Smith, Mr. and Mrs. C. N. Fonteneau, Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Lamb, Sr., and daughter Maybelle from Lakeside, Mr. and Mrs. Pat Hedges of Sacramento, Mrs. F. E. Dowgiallo and daughter, Beverley, Mrs. L. Dunn and daughter Diane, Mrs. M. Stoney and baby daughter, Mrs. Carl Prusson and son Robby, Mrs. E. Bauman and son, Mrs. Hope Spencer and grandson, Cort, Mrs. K. Dunn and son and daughter, Master Conrad, Jr., Master Severns, Jr., Mrs. Kay Ronian and son, Robby, and daughter, Diane, Mrs. R. Melrose, and Janet and Robert Melrose. Mr. and Mrs. Benson and Chucky had just returned from a car trip back east, where they had been visiting Mr. and Mrs. Benson's mother and letting Chucky's grandmother get her first glimpse of him.

Studies Ceramics

Mrs. Mary VanPelt of northern Michigan is spending the winter at the Pine Inn and expects to study ceramics while in Carmel. When not on vacation she designs houses complete to the last detail, including furnishings, and presents wooden models to the builder for execution.

Piedmont Holiday

Dr. and Mrs. W. A. Angwin of Jack's Peak spent Christmas in Piedmont with old friends.

Mrs. Conlon Here

Mrs. Louise M. Conlon, formerly a resident of Carmel, spent several days at the Pine Inn last week upon her return to this country from Saudi Arabia.

Visitor From Virginia

Miss Janet Y. Belin arrived Tuesday night to spend a month with her brother, Major Ronald M. Belin, and mother, Mrs. Elsa Y. Belin. Miss Belin lives in Arlington, Virginia.

Sister From Seattle

Mrs. Freemont Rider's sister, Mrs. Robert W. Jones and her husband have arrived from Seattle to visit through the holidays, and probably past New Year's Day.

Sumner's Stag Party

That man about town, Mr. Dick Sumner, gave a party for the male population of Carmel and it seems that the entire population appeared, (almost.) A few pretzels were served and two cases of rum. The Stocking Shop was the gathering place, things started around 5:30 and went on until nobody knew when, for, says Dick, he was buried at ten o'clock.

Cocktail Party

Mr. and Mrs. Murl Ogden gave a party for 60 or 70 of their friends on Sunday, December 21, from 4:00 to 7:00 p. m. Included among the guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Abernethy, Mr. and Mrs. R. Eddy, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Jones, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Andrews, and Mapuana and Archie Andrews, and the Ralph Castagna's.

Cartoonist In Carmel

Mr. and Mrs. Bill O'Malley are spending the holidays at La Playa Hotel. This is the second year they have come down from Oakland to have their Christmas and New Year's in Carmel. Mr. O'Malley is a cartoonist whose work have appeared in the national magazines.

Lions Sing Carols

Tuesday evening when the Carmel Lions Club met at the Mission Ranch the guests of honor were Del Wilson, Billy Hillyer and Willard Hillyer. Al Fry conducted kid games among the members, in teams of six or eight, and the main feature of the evening was the singing of Christmas carols by the whole group. The committee in charge of the Christmas Party for children reported that 175 presents were ready for distribution to the Club's juvenile guests at the annual theatre party held Christmas morning at ten o'clock at the Carmel Theatre.

Trip To Mexico

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Godwin left Thursday, December 19 to spend the holidays at Hamilton Ranch in Mexico. They expect to return around the first of the year.

OCEAN VIEW—Unobstructed and not only from one area. The enormous living room and dining room, with its very large windows, get the full benefit of the sea. The kitchen is well planned and roomy with a breakfast nook, which also gets the breath taking panorama. There are two nice bedrooms overlooking the water and one below. 2 car garage with much storage. Fenced, beautifully landscaped large lot. A value, believe me, and there is an FHA on this property. The price is amazing considering the immaculate condition. It is pre-war construction, built for a home with careful planning.

ANOTHER — Outstanding value, near the beach and village, view of water, large lot. 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, immense living room and dining room. Extra large garage with loads of storage, patios, garden, light and sunny, modern in every respect and only $35,000.

NEW—2 bedroom ultra modern home. Large living room, dinette, service room. 2 car garage, near bus line, fenced—$19,500.

ANOTHER — Extra special value in a modern, new, 2 bedroom home close to shops. Attached garage, heat in all rooms, tiled features. And this is the pay off. A new bendix, latest stove available, refrigerator, built in leather seats with steel table in kitchen, fenced — reduced to $15,500.

IF YOU prefer a furnished cottage, this is a nice buy. Older modernized 2 bedroom, with dinette, service porch, garage, near transportation at only $9,750 and easy terms.

Talk About College

This Sunday night, at 6:00 p. m., the Youth Fellowship of the Church of the Wayfarer is featuring a discussion around college returnees, the Misses Jeannine Viljoen and Carol Baxter, and Hugo Bedau. The discussion will be led by Betty Plaxton of Group 2.

Visitors For Mrs. Fletcher

Ralph Fletcher and his wife, Florence, and their son, Richard, a law student at Stanford, are here for a Christmas visit with Mr. Fletcher's mother, Mrs. Ansel Fletcher.

Kusters Are Back

It's good to hear Ted Kuster's cheery voice again, and to know that after a month in Hollywood, and much time before that in Santa Fe with Gay and Marcia, the Kusters are back with us in Carmel. Ted says Santa Fe and Taos were very gay with something going on nearly every night.

"Butch" Is Home

Ronald, five and a half year old son of Building Inspector and Mrs. Floyd Adams, was home from the hospital in time for Christmas. Ronald—"Butch" to those, who love him and that's everybody who has had an opportunity to bask in his smile—took a ride on a bicycle as a passenger and forgot to watch where his small feet were waving. One went into the spokes of the wheel; he was thrown to the ground and his right elbow broken. There will have to be three more trips to the hospital for re-breaking and resetting but meanwhile—it's the Christmas season and "Butch" is home.

Holiday Ski Party

Four people who are really going to have fun, George and Loli Willox, and Lillie and Bob Smith, are leaving the day after Christmas to go skiing at Mt. Rose. Their friend, Dodie Harrison, now living in Carmel, has a house at Mt. Rose so close to the ski run you can almost lean out and start sliding. They are all going to visit her and ski the New Year in.

New Elks

Last Monday evening in the Monterey Elks Lodge, Exalted Ruler Kal Sapero and his brother officers initiated the following new members: Ralph E. Bisnett, Plato J. Brocchini, Glenn R. Gilmore, Jack M. Laughlin, Bert L. Lyons, Rolland R. Robinson, Raymond M. Wasson, and Emerson R. White. In the same ceremony Verne C. Williams and Floyd H. Kennedy were reinstated, and Colonel Modesto E. Rodriguez underwent the initiation into the San Juan Lodge of Puerto Rico, to which he had been invited before his change of orders from the Army sent him to the Monterey Peninsula.

Visit Relatives

Mrs. Sara N. Farrar and her sister, Mary Newell, drove to Marin County to enjoy the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Newell Farrar and their children.

ORGAN VESPER SERVICES

A special all-request program will feature the Organ Vespers on New Year's Eve at the Church of the Wayfarer. The organist for the 45 minute program which begins at 5:15 p.m. will be Mrs. Annie G. Vaughn. Selections which Mrs. Vaughn will play include: The Chord by Sullivan, Berceuse from Jocelyn by Godard, Handel's Largo and Kamennoi-Ostrow by Rubenstein. She will also play arrangements of familiar hymns, including: Rock of Ages, Sweet Hour of Prayer, Abide with Me, Sometime we'll Understand, and My Faith Looks Up To Thee. This weekly Organ Vesper is offered to the entire community for the enjoyment and inspiration of all. There is no sermon or offering, only the opportunity to enjoy the music of the organ in the beauty of the Church of the Wayfarer.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

"Christian Science" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon in Churches of Christ, Scientist, next Sunday, December 28, with the Golden Text from Isaiah: "The glory of the Lord shall be revealed, and all flesh shall see it together: for the mouth of the Lord hath spoken it" (40:5).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Revelation: "And there appeared a great wonder in heaven; a woman clothed with the sun, and the moon under her feet, and upon her head a crown of twelve stars: And the serpent cast out of his mouth water as a flood after the woman, that he might cause her to be carried away of the flood. And the earth helped the woman, and the earth opened her mouth, and swallowed up the flood which the dragon cast out of his mouth" (12: 1, 15, 16).

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Millions of unprejudiced minds—simple seekers for Truth, weary wanderers, athirst in the desert—are waiting and watching for rest and drink. Give them a cup of cold water in Christ's name, and never fear the consequences. What if the old dragon should send forth a new flood to drown the Christ-idea? He can neither drown your voice with its roar, nor again sink the world into the deep waters of chaos and old night. In this age the earth will help the woman; the spiritual idea will be understood. Those ready for the blessing you impart will give thanks. The waters will be pacified, and Christ will command the wave" (p. 570).

St. John's Chapel
Del Monte

The Rev. Theodore Bell
Chaplain

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day.

Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded. Sunday services at 8 and 11 a.m. This Chapel is opposite the Naval School, just outside Monterey, on Fremont Street.

Glancing Back And Ahead In The Theatre

By R. ELLIS ROBERTS

I often think that Carmel must be one of the happiest places in this sad world, and I know that Christmas is the happiest season. But it is a very sad world, still, and so it is well to count all our blessings, those in the past and those to come, as well as our present good fortunes. I have just heard a piece of good news for the immediate future which has pleased me so much and brought back so many happy memories that I'd like to share them with Pine Cone readers, if I may.

When I look back on my youth, spent in a city, I am impressed with how fortunate the children and young people of Carmel are. If they long for natural beauty, it is in every street and at the end of every street, not in a distant and restricted park. They need go only a few blocks, not a long train journey, for the delights and wonders of the ocean and the beach; rides in the mountains are not at the end of another long train trip. And the sun shines, nearly always. Most of the advantages of city life, fine music, exhibitions of pictures, good movies are theirs. Only fine professional acting (by more than one disease) is lacking. But how much that can mean to young people! I was only four when my parents took me to see Joseph Jefferson play Rip Van Winkle, but to this day I remember many scenes and my excitement and delight. I was allowed to come from boarding school to see Sarah Bernhardt in L'Aiglon, Henry Irving in The Bells, Ellen Terry in Nance Oldfield and Richard Mansfield in Peer Gynt and Henry V. They were all past their prime, these great actors and actresses, so older theatre-goers said, but to tell what it meant to me to see them would take more space than The Pine Cone could spare. Carmel has remarkably good amateur acting, and, if one can't have both, it is better, I think, to do things oneself than to see them done, even though done much better. But to have both is best. And now I hear that the Ojai Festival Players, who gave such a memorable performance of Macbeth last June, are coming again to the Playhouse for a brief visit, on the Sunday and Monday in Christmas week and the Sunday and Monday in New Year's week. And with plays in the holiday mood, an adaptation of Charles Dickens' story, The Cricket on the Hearth, and a witty comedy of ideas, Second Wind, by Iris Tree, daughter of the famous English actor, Sir Herbert Beerbohm Tree.

This news of the coming of the Ojai Players made me remember, too, nights when I did dramatic criticism in London for The New Statesman and Nation and Life and Letters. I can only remember three other companies which gave me as strong a sense of dedication to their art, of united talent, of artistic integrity, sincerity and sensibility as do the Ojai Players. They were Coppeau's Vieux Colombier Company, the players at the Theatre Montparnasse and the Habema Players. All these companies, like the Ojai Players, were groups whose ideals were wholly artistic, not commercial, and, again, like the Ojai Players, the same actors worked together for years, giving months of rehearsal to each play.

In eighteen months' time, and for twice eighteen years after, I hope, we will be making pilgrimages to the Ojai Festivals, in the spring, to see fine acting and ballet, and to hear great music, both old and new. It will be an added wealth to us all, and especially to our young people, to remember that, even if the Festival becomes for the West Coast something of what Salzburg was to Europe and Glyndebourne to England, they saw the Festival Players first in their own town. Just as it is a delight to me to remember that I saw their beginnings at Dartington Hall. The social settlement in the lovely Devonshire countryside was the work of an American, Mrs. Leonard Elmhirst (nee Dorothy Payne Whitney, widow of Willard Straight, our Ambassador to China) and her husband. Dartington Hall gave shelter and a drama school to Michael Chekov, nephew of the great playwright, when he was a refugee from Russia. Reinhardt used to say that Michael Chekov was the greatest actor in the world and one of the greatest directors. (Alan Harkness, the Players' present director, was Michael Chekov's assistant producer.) I remember, too, when the war drove the Players to Ridgewood, Connecticut, that we saw one of their productions on Broadway. Then the war came to America, too, and with what regret I heard that it had scattered the players into war work. That would be the end, I feared, as of so many good companies, that, and the offers of Hollywood. But war has spared and the movies have been resisted and a new home has been found in California.

The brief Christmas and New Year's season of the Ojai Players in Carmel is a happy thing to look forward to in this happy season in an unhappy world.

COLLISION

A truck owned by Franklin Anderson and driven by his employee, John Mendez Avila, was backing out of parking lot on Sixth near Lincoln Monday, when it collided with a car driven by Garth Jeffers. Only slight damage resulted, with no injuries sustained.

Townsend Cocktail Party

Tuesday afternoon, December 23, from 5:00 to 8:00 o'clock, Col. and Mrs. George L. Townsend entertained around 150 guests at a cocktail party at their home in Pebble Beach. The guest list included some of the young people, friends of Mimi, daughter of the house.

All Saints' Party

The Woman's Auxiliary of All Saints' Church held a Christmas party last week in the church, opening with Mrs. D. MacMillan Kerr's reading of The Little Mixer.

The Girls' Glee Club, under the direction of John Farr and accompanied by Connie McKibbin, gave a Russian Carol from an opera by Rimsky Korsakoff, To a Homeless Child at Bethlehem, by Busch, and A Legend by Tchaikowsky. Later they sang Lord in Garment Lowly by Gaille, How a Rose 'Ere Blooming, by Praetorius, and the old French Carol, Sleep, Holy Child. The members of the Girls' Glee Club are Nancy Anderson, Eleanor Bannerman, Joyce Bannerman, Zoe Beyma, Margo Boice, Lourdes Brosnan, Patsy Canoles, Edelen Cory, Ardith Morrisseau, Patsy Pierce, Nancy Santes, Delora Sharpe, Joyce Stiles, Lorene Townsend, Sally Reichard, Violet Sheay, Joan Daniels, Joy Westcott, Yvonne Goodrich, Betty Hendrichs, Charles Johns, Pat Machado, Betty Lou Malone, Doris May, Nancy McCarthy, Connie McKibbin, Joan Harrington and Hilary Carnson.

Joyce Stiles, contralto, sang Nativty by Plympton, and A Christmas Lullaby, accompanied by Joy Westcott. A string quartet, composed by Joan Harrington, first violin, Charles Johns, second violin, Basil Allaire, viola, and Hilary Carnson, cello, gave Minuet by Michael Hayden, and Sarabande, by Bach. Joy Westcott at the piano gave Bolero Ritmico. The Boys' Quartet, composed of Murrey Wight, Paul Warner, Phil Wettengel and Basil Allaire, had been scheduled to sing O Little Town of Bethlehem and The First Noel, and since Murrey Wight was too ill to appear his place was taken by John Farr. Lorene Townsend, Zoe Beyma and Ardith Morrisseau sang Shepherds Awake by Davis with the full chorus for background.

The entire gathering joined in singing Silent Night before refreshments were served by Mrs. Willard Wheeler and Mrs. J. Armistead Welbourne.

Carols And Candles

A program of stories, song and rhythm under the leadership of Mrs. Katherine Lansdowne was given at the June Delight Studio, Mission Street, on Tuesday, December 23. This group is composed of children from ages 3 to 6 and meets each Wednesday afternoon at two p.m. The special party on Tuesday was in keeping with the season. The march of the candles led by Diane Miller, while singing the carols, was the high light of the program. Those in the class group are: Diana Miller, Kay and Kippy Dunning, Deo and David Roberts, Linda Mubry, Winston Sargent, Tranny Mitchell, and Kathleen Aldrich.
